2005 • RED WINE • CALIFORNIA

Some of the best wines from California are made from vineyards along California State Route 128. Starting in Davis, California, Route 128 can be traced westward through Chiles Valley over to Rutherford in the heart of the Napa Valley. Heading north through the Napa Valley, 128 continues into Sonoma County's Knights and Alexander Valleys. Proceeding northwest through Anderson Valley in Mendocino County, this "California Wine Road" ends near the mouth of the Navarro River on the Northern California Coast south of the town of Mendocino. CALIFORNIA 128 is made from grapes grown along this "California Wine Road" and represents a unique value in today's confusing world of wine.
